After several applications the hair stops coming out and you can't find any dandruff.—(Adv.)

BUSH OUSTER CASE CALLED

Chancellor Garvin Begins Hearing of the Second Case Against Sheriff.

SOME LEGAL POINTS RAISED

Chancellor Will Pass on Validity of Second Petition at Conclusion of Hearing.

The second ouster suit against Sheriff Nick P. Bush was begun Monday morning in the chancery court before Chancellor W. B. Garvin. It is expected the trial will consume the entire week as there are a large number of witnesses summoned. The suit charges the sheriff with illegal and unlawful collecting of jail fees and per diem. On April 19 an amendment was filed to the original bill against the sheriff in which it is charged the sheriff unlawfully and illegally allowed his deputies to charge extra for the services they rendered during the textile and street car strikes of last year.

It was the amendment solely that witnesses were placed on the stand Monday morning and at the noon hour the charges contained in the original bill had not been touched upon. T. Pope Shepherd, leading counsel for the defense, stated that they had not prepared a written answer to the charges contained in the amendment and understood it had been withdrawn. However, he was given leave by the chancellor to file the answer later. The state is represented by W. G. M. Thomas, of the firm of Thomas & Thomas; W. B. Miller, of the firm of Miller & Miller; and C. W. Lusk, of the firm of Lusk & Thompson. The defense is represented by T. Pope Shepherd, of the firm of Shepherd & Fleming; W. F. Chamlee and W. T. Murray, of the firm of Murray & Chamlee, and V. Schofield, of the firm of Schofield & Schofield. The trial of the case will probably consume the entire week and it is understood many out-of-town witnesses have been summoned.

Garnett Andrews.
The first witness called to the stand Monday morning was Garnett Andrews, president of several hosiery mills. Mr. Andrews stated that he asked the sheriff for two deputies to be on duty surrounding the mills and they were given to him after he had agreed to pay them $5 a day and this he said he did. Mr. Andrews, on cross-examination, stated the men gave him entire satisfaction and he complimented them when they were ready to leave.

During the examination of Mr. Andrews, Mr. Shepherd objected to the rehearsing of the old ouster suit against the sheriff, saying if this was done the trial of the case would never be finished. The chancellor, however, overruled the objection and stated that he was not going to have a rehearsing of the case, but he wanted the witness to state his knowledge of his and the sheriff's connection. Mr. Shepherd also suggested to the court the illegality of the filing of the second ouster suit, while the first one was still pending. However, the chancellor held that he could not try separately that point for the reason that after he had decided it would be appealed and whether decided for or against the defendant the case would then revert back to his court and would then have to be tried on its merits. He stated that he thought best to have a hearing of the case on its merits and then decide the legality of the filing of the second suit at the end of the trial.

The second witness called was R. L. Bothwell, superintendent of the Chickamauga Knitting mills. He stated that he had paid two of the sheriff's deputies $5 apiece for the work they had done during the strikes in the protection of his mill property. He said that the amount paid, in all, was $1,075. Mr. Bothwell stated that the work done by the deputies was satisfactory and he complimented them both on it.

Prevented Trouble.

S. M. McCracken, superintendent of the United Hosiery mills, stated that he employed Deputies Frank Day and Luther Carter for $3.50 a day and when he asked the sheriff about it he said that he did not want his men paid because he could not spare them, but said they would have to be paid were they employed, $5 a day. He said this he did and the men then stayed during the strike, and no further trouble was caused. He said the men gave unusually satisfactory service. Mr. McCracken said he did not have the list with him of the entire amount of what he paid the men.

W. A. Jones, secretary and treasurer of the Signal Knitting mills, said he asked for a deputy to be sent to his plant and this was done. He said the deputy stayed there nine nights and then asked for his time. Witness said he thought the fact that the mill owners and employers were taxpayers that they should be furnished the service without extra charge. He said that he called Frank Miller about it and was told that was alright, that was what had been agreed to.

T. N. Van Dyke, treasurer of the Signal Knitting mills, testified that he had paid for deputies at a plant and gave an itemized list of how much had been paid for extra help. The amount was $565 for five deputies. He also stated they gave good service.

Reading Old Evidence.

At this juncture the state said that E. D. Reed, of the street railway, was the next witness, but was out of town. He said that Mr. Reed would state he had paid extra for deputies to guard the company's property. However, Mr. Shepherd stated that if the state would agree to them reading testimony taken in the first suit, the defense would agree to the reading of what testimony the state needed from the old suit. He said that he made this suggestion for the purpose of saving time. The attorneys then went into conference and as it was heard the noon hour court adjourned until 1 o'clock. Chancellor Garvin stated that the case would be finished each afternoon at 3 o'clock as this was the week in which the uncontested divorce cases are to be heard.

TROUBLES SETTLED AT COLUMBIAN IRON WORKS

Negotiations Between Workers and Heads of Departments Settled on Satisfactory Basis.

The negotiations between the heads of the Columbian Iron works, machinists, shell makers and tool men, which has been going on for more than two weeks, have resulted, it is understood, in a satisfactory agreement. Demands for a 20 per cent. increase have been made by the Columbian Iron workers, increasing the wages of the men in the old shop from 45 cents an hour to 65 cents, and tool makers from 55 to 75 cents.

A meeting was held Sunday in the rooms of the Chattanooga Trades and Labor council, and resulted, it is said, in a compromise of 72 1/2 cents maximum wage per hour, and an eight-hour working day, instead of ten.

An agreement was effected last week by workers in the shell room whereby they receive 65, 67 1/2 and 72 cents, according to their work. Eleven tool room men will be affected by the increase.

IMPORTANT MEETING AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Two Eloquent Speakers to Be Heard Here Under Auspices Ministers' Association.

The important event this week in religious circles will be the meeting under the auspices of the Ministers' association representing the national commission on the church and the moral aims of the war. This meeting is similar to the great meetings that are being held in all the larger centers of the country. The purpose is to clarify in the minds of all the people the purposes and methods and spirit of the allied nations in the world war. It also attempts to outline some of the anticipated events after the war and the hope for ecclesiastical reconstruction.

The meeting will be held on Wednesday night in the First Baptist church. Two eminent speakers will address the audience. These are Maj. Boynton, of the coast artillery, one of the most forceful speakers to men in America, and Dr. Bittings, of St. Louis, who will make the principal addresses. ## HEROIC MOTHER TALKS OF HER SOLDIER BOY

Corporal Lewis T. Hagood, Wounded in France, Now on Road to Recovery.

The name of Corp. Lowery T. Hagood, which appeared in the casualty list last Wednesday as being among those slightly wounded, is a young man in years, but a veteran in service, for this is the second time the Oakdale boy has been wounded while a member of Uncle Sam's fighting forces. While serving on the Mexican border a party of soldiers among whom was Corp. Hagood, was fired upon by Mexican bandits. He was wounded by a rifle shot in the temple, but fully recovered, after lying in a post hospital for some time.

His mother, Mrs. Cordelia H. Vayles, of Oakdale, in an interview with a News reporter, expressed much pride in the fact that her boy is "doing his bit" for his country.

"I would much rather receive word that he has been wounded in France," said Mrs. Vayles, "than to hear he was a slacker."

Corp. Hagood was born in Culberson, N. C., and lived there until eight years ago, coming to Oakdale. He entered Rabun Gap Industrial school and stayed there until his senior year. After war was declared by Germany on France the Oakdale boy sought permission of his mother to enlist. She consented, and he enlisted at Harrison on April 28, 1916. He shipped to Columbus, O., with his troops and later entrained for Douglas, Ariz. It was while at the border and on a reconnaissance expedition that he received his first wound.

On June 8 of last year Corp. Hagood's division sailed for France.

W. H. Harrison Alighted at Eighth and Georgia to Put Tickets in Box.

W. H. Harrison, one of the oldest carmen in the employ of the Chattanooga Railway and Light company, was struck by an automobile at Eighth street and Georgia avenue Monday morning and painfully injured. In connection with the accident, C. A. Mattil, a traveling salesman for the James Supply company, was registered at police headquarters on a charge of assault. He made bond for his appearance in police court.

Following the accident, Mr. Harrison was removed to Newell's infirmary, and was resting well when the infirmary was called.

Mr. Harrison is a conductor on the Oak street line and alighted from his car at Eighth and Georgia to put an envelope in a railway box there. The auto struck him when he started across the street. It is understood that Mr. Mattil was driving slowly, but on account of the slick street was unable to avoid striking the conductor. The accident was the first that Mr. Mattil has had and he has been driving a car for some time.

Conductor Harrison is one of the best known men in Chattanooga. His period of service with the railway company extends over many years.

I had a friend who begged me to get a bottle of Lung-Vita, but I had tried so many things without getting any relief that I did not feel that I wanted to spend any more money.
